2. Why study this course, including course aims and objectives

The International Pathway Course :Foundation in Fashion at Istituto Marangoni Paris is a fast-paced dynamic programme designed to equip students with a broad range of creative and academic skills. It will enable you to make an informed transition into U.K. Higher Education and to build confidence, knowledge and technical ability through a range of practical and specialist creative projects.

The course is suitable for learners wishing to explore a range of specialist creative disciplines with fashion before deciding on an appropriate progression route. It is also suitable for learners who may need to build creative or language skills prior to starting Higher Education.

The foundation programme offers students a broad knowledge of the practical, theoretical, academic and technical skills that support a chosen degree pathway in the U.K. within the arts. You will start by actively exploring the materials, techniques and processes that relate to Art and Design. You will understand how creative disciplines influence each other and will be guided through the process of presenting ideas visually using hand-rendered and computer-generated techniques.

You will be assisted to decide on a specialist pathway through the development of creative and written work, feedback on outcomes and individual tutorials and you will progress to select fashion related subjects in term two.

The second term will ask you to undertake a range of innovative projects. You will undertake practical projects in fashion design, styling and business. This will enable you to build an extensive portfolio, understand more about the career opportunities associated with each discipline and decide on an appropriate progression route for U.K. Higher Education.

You will ultimately be guided to propose and implement a substantial creative project in Fashion. This project will demonstrate Your creative direction and define your individual practice. The course is underpinned by theory through a programme of contextual studies that develops your critical understanding of art and design. It will develop your appreciation for the ethical considerations related to the creative arts and broaden your understanding of the specialist language and terminology required for higher education. This term is enhanced by the development of further academic skills such as entrepreneurship group work and peer critique.

You will ultimately be guided to propose and implement a substantial creative project in a specialist area of your choice. This project will demonstrate your creative direction and define your individual practice.

The course is underpinned by creative theory through a course of contextual studies that develops your critical understanding of art and design. It will enhance your appreciation for the ethical considerations related to the creative arts and broaden your understanding of the specialist language and terminology required for higher education. If you require additional English language support whilst on the programme you will be enrolled onto the English support classes in which you will receive additional lessons offering tailored assistance with reading, writing and communication skills.

By the end of the foundation course, you will have developed the capacity to be creative within Fashion. You will understand the phases of a specialist project and will be able to apply intellectual enquiry to practical assignments, communicating outcomes to intended audiences with your own aesthetic sensibility. You will have built skills in teamwork but also be able to work independently on projects. You should be able to critically reflect on your own process and the arts as a source of inspiration and should be aware of the diverse practices and ethical considerations that relate to the subject. You will communicate your learning through termly unit outcomes, the demonstration of English skills required for U.K. Higher Education progression, a substantial final project and a portfolio of creative work that supports your future studies and career goals.

As outlined in the QAA International Pathway Course Characteristics Statement, the course is designed to:

- support ongoing educational and personal development

- provide a pathway for progression to higher levels of study
- encourage academic, cultural and social preparedness
- take into account students' previous educational experiences
- develop transferable and independent learning skills
- promote critical thinking.

The School is entitled to make reasonable changes to structure, contents, and facilities aiming to the continuous improvement of the Programme.

Attendance

Whilst studying on the foundation course you should actively engage with all taught sessions. Attendance is continuously monitored and students with attendance below 80% are at risk of being withdrawn from the programme.

Units

Your course is composed of a number of units that each have a credit value. On successfully passing each of these units, you will gain credits that count towards the total needed for your qualification.

One credit equates to 10 notional hours, which is the average time a student will take to achieve the specified learning outcomes. If a unit is worth 10 credits, then you would expect to spend 100 hours studying this. These will not all be 'taught' hours. You will receive guidance and instruction through lectures, seminars, etc., but you will also need to engage in self-study. A percentage breakdown of teaching contact hours and self-study required on this course is indicated in Section 6.

On an International Pathway foundation course, you can usually expect to study 120 credits per qualification.

Students with an overall IELTS score of 6 (with no individual score less than 5.5) will receive additional English Support classes (60 GLH in total). To enable successful progression onto U.K. Higher Education, you will have an extra class each week dedicated to the further enhancement of your reading, writing, comprehension and presenting skills. You will also receive additional support with key academic skills delivered on the creative units for example: time management, preparing presentations and avoiding plagiarism. These lessons are designed to identify individual needs on entry and support students to attain the unit requirements at summative assessment. be enrolled onto the Language Panorama programme.

6. Learning and teaching strategy/ assessment methods (non-regulatory)

This is a guide to the academic opportunities available to help you achieve the overall aims and objectives of the course and the intended learning outcomes in Section 5. It is also a guide to the assessment methods used to test your achievement of the intended learning outcomes. In order to meet the full intended learning outcomes of the course, you will be expected to study independently, participate in class discussions, ask for support in academic skills if required and engage with your personal tutors.

The learning and teaching strategy adopted for this course relates to the Regent's Hallmark Pedagogy which comprises six priority areas:

- A personalised student experience
- Interactive and inclusive learning
- Assessment for learning
- Focus on student skills and attributes
- Developing cultural agility, flexibility and graduates' ability to compete strongly in the global labour market
- Professional development for staff

Istituto Marangoni Paris Teaching and Learning Strategy is designed to reflect the changing skills required within the fashion industry. The aim is to provide you with practical and theoretical knowledge specific to undergraduate study, which is also applicable to the wider proficiencies required in the workplace. We also aim to deliver a personalised student experience. Our classes provide a diverse cultural education which offers a global perspective. The programme is aligned to the creative industry, and it simulates real life scenarios delivered by creative professionals.

Our classes are delivered via 2.5-hour sessions comprising of workshops, lectures, seminars, tutorials and field trips which are designed to integrate both theoretical and practical deliverables. Each student has 17.5 or 20 hours of delivered sessions per week (dependent on whether you are enrolled on English Support).

- Workshops are used for core development of physical and digital work wherein you will be engaged in practical activities.
- Lectures/Seminars are used to communicate key theories and practices of the subject and to discuss current affairs and industrial issues, often via case studies.
- Tutorials offer you individualised support and feedback on the progress of your work.
- Field trips enable you to engage with the city and contextualise your practical understanding of the subject.

At Istituto Marangoni we pride ourselves on inclusive and interactive teaching. Your programme combines a combination of lecture-based teaching with tutorial support, and studio-based teaching with individual and group critiques. All classrooms hold no more than 25 students, in order to offer more contact time between you and your tutors. This allows us to cater to SEN students, and each groups' unique needs. It also allows for an interactive classroom, encouraging you to share your opinions, and develop from peer learning. The course is designed so that you will study under the close direction of your lecturers at the beginning of the programme and gradually move towards greater independence as you progress through the units towards your final project. The course is also enhanced by I.M. Paris's wide-ranging programme of guest speakers and mentors.

At the beginning of each unit, you will be given a handbook and other relevant materials (such as Project Briefs) by your lecturers. These materials outline all expectations for learning on that unit (such as the unit content, unit aims, assessment details etc)

Formative feedback is given mid-way through the term to offer you personalised suggestions, and critical support in order to develop your work further. At the end of each unit there will be a summative assessment point where you will receive feedback and a unit grade.

All teaching resources and materials are available for use via the virtual learning environment.

A full list of resources and places to visit to inspire creative and written work can be found in the library. In addition the library creates a newsletter with all the current fashion & Cultural events.

Breakdown of teaching methods by percentage per level

The following breakdown is a guide to how much time you will spend doing each teaching and learning method.

- 'Taught' learning typically refers to timetabled sessions led by a member of academic staff, such as contextual studies lectures.
- 'Practical' sessions are also timetabled and led by an academic member of staff, but are focused on learning through experience, e.g. role plays, simulations, field trips, studio or laboratory work
- 'Self-Study' is time dedicated to self-directed learning that is guided by your own requirements to further your studies and complete assignments. This could include preparation for class, background reading, research and preparation for assessments, and writing.

Assessment Information

Units will be summatively assessed via the submission of project work, and written work and, oral presentations and sometimes supported by final critiques. You will also have an opportunity to assess your progress against peerwork through timetabled peer review and critiques. Your unit brief will have clear information of the work that should be submitted at the end of term.

Examples include:

- Digital Research presentations
- Sketchbook work
- 3D and material exploration photographed digitally.
- Design Development/Outcome boards (presented in a digital format)
- Oral presentations
- Essays

Course management and teaching staff

The Course is run by a Programme Leader, supported by Unit Leaders and teaching is delivered by specialist tutors and overseen by a Director of Education.

All of our academics are continuously involved in industry and market research and some in scholarly activity and practical activities, as well as being heavily involved within the industry in their selected areas of expertise. The course truly relies on our team, being active in the environment they teach and deliver in, to create a greater more current experience for the students.

The team's areas of academic and professional interest and experience, directly coincide and support our programme. As such there is a direct correlation that the curriculum is informed by this and updated accordingly.

Visiting Lecturers and Guest Speakers are an integral part of the course and make individual interventions on specific parts of its delivery. They deliver on a level of contemporary information and content that is directly applicable to both the programme deliverables and careers.

Assessment strategy and methods

Assessment is important to your learning. It is a positive element of your education. Each unit on your programme has learning outcomes and assessment is used to test that you have achieved those objectives. Assessment tasks are aligned to the learning outcomes to enable you to evidence your learning and understanding.

You will have at least one formative assessment within the first six weeks of the start of each unit. This helps you to develop your studies and highlights any further support that may be needed. It does not contribute to the award mark.

Formative feedback will be aligned to the summative outcomes of the unit and it will enable you to understand areas to improve prior to final assessment.

Students requiring English support will also have an initial assessment of their English skills at the start of term one with a formative assessment within each term identifying areas of progress undertaken at the end of the term.

Summative assessment measures the student's achievement against the course Learning Outcomes and provides an evaluation of your progress and learning during an entire unit, generating a unit mark and constructive feedback. It also confirms the conditions for referral and retake where applicable. Examples of summative assessment include written assignments and tasks (essays, note-taking, reports, case studies etc), practical coursework (Sketchbooks, design development, digital presentations) and oral presentations.

You are strongly encouraged to seek as much feedback as possible regarding your progress on your units from your lecturers. Your lecturers will write about your performance on your units (feedback) and they will also write about what you are advised to do in the future (feed-forward). This information is valuable as it will enable you to evaluate your progress with a view to improvement on future units. Please note that IMP may need to keep your work for various reasons, including audits, validations and for External Examiners to review. You are advised to keep copies of your work wherever possible and to contact the Course Leader for information about collecting work.

Ethical approval of research

All research conducted within and outside the School by students at Istituto Marangoni Paris should comply with internal processes prior to its commencement. This will include, but is not limited to, all research involving human or other living participants, and all experiments, investigations and procedures involving human or other living participants, or data relating to such living entities.

In units where students may conduct primary research involving human participants as part of the data gathering process, this is normally conducted via in-depth interviews, focus groups and surveys. The ethical approval follows a formalised process and students must demonstrate that such process has been accurately followed.

7. Relationship to other courses

Some courses share units or have other connections to other courses. This is a guide to whether this is applicable for your course.

The Foundation in Fashion at Istituto Marangoni Paris is a one-year International Pathway Course that facilitates access to U.K. Higher Education programmes on completion. It does not share units with any other course. The programme is aligned to various progression pathways both within Istituto Marangoni Paris, the wider I.M. group and Higher Education. courses throughout the UK and global market.

8. Student support

Istituto Marangoni Paris provides a range of student support mechanisms which include (but not limited to):

- Admissions: the department provides information about all the programme and study opportunities at Istituto Marangoni, supports and assists applicants throughout all stages of admission from initial enquiry, application to enrolment.
- Academic and Student Services: the aim is to support and enhance student experience allowing individual growth and success. The department provides pastoral, academic, social and wellbeing support and guidance as well as advice regarding timetables, deadlines, and School regulations.
- Library: the library service aims to deliver a high quality engaging and supportive service for students to foster an outstanding, inspiring, diverse, innovative, and creative educational experience. The service intends to inspire students to discover more about their subjects and other relevant disciplines as well as provide information and materials to support the syllabi for all subjects taught in the school.
- Careers Service: the department supports students and alumni, offering guidance on all aspects of their career journey, providing practical advice, and helping students connect with industry.
- SEN support: the School aims to provide equal opportunities for all its students. Tutor support is intended to remove any barriers that may prevent students from fulfilling their potential and the School is always ready to respond positively to their needs. Any students identified for learning support have their needs addressed by Academic and Student Services jointly with the Programme Leaders team who assist them in areas such as time management, identifying and dealing with learning difficulties and helping to prepare their personal Learning Plan. The arrangements are being kept under review on an annual basis.

IM Paris recognizes respect for others, inclusion and respect for diversity as part of the essential values of the School. These values are expected to be embodied in all circumstances within the school, whether alone or in a group, on and off campus, in an academic or non-academic context, within real or virtual interactions. Everyone is committed to respecting equality between all members of the school community and opposes all forms of discrimination based on presumed or proven origins, physical appearance, nationality, age, religion and beliefs, disability, sexual or gender identity, political opinion or affiliation, trade union affiliation and any other personal characteristics and/or conditions.

IM Paris is actively committed to fighting against violence, in all its forms, whether physical, moral or sexual. With that purpose IM Paris organises awareness seminars about harassment and disabilities since the beginning academic year.

Furthermore IM Paris is actively committed to enhancing pedagogical accessibility and inclusive teaching practices through a set of pedagogical arrangements reviewed yearly.

9. Learning support

Istituto Marangoni Paris offers a variety of facilities and technologies to support your studies. These include open access lecture rooms, workshop space, the library and IT labs. Specialist software is also provided to assist with the learning journey.

Library: In addition to the normal Library duties, one to one tutorials and workshops are organized on a regular basis to support the learning activities, covering a wide range of topics such as:

- How to research the library resources
- Harvard Referencing Workshop
- Academic writing workshop
- Evaluating information workshop

E-Resources: Searchable online learning materials covering many topics, from traditional Library service to improving research, writing and study practices to working collaboratively and more.

VLE: Supports the physical learning environment and allows online delivery when needed. It contains all information you need to successfully attend and progress.

IM App: Supports the physical learning environment with practical guidelines and useful information.

10. Opportunities for personal development planning

Personal development is a key factor of your studies on foundation. Throughout the course, you will be invited to a series of tutorials with a personal tutor where discussions concerning progression goals will take place.

Additionally, as outlined previously, your personal development may also be enhanced via accessing the services of:

SEN Support

Career Service

Extracurricular activities

You will also have the opportunity to engage with extracurricular activities on and off campus organised by staff from across Istituto Marangoni. These include but are not limited to prominent guest speakers' presentations, field trips and school led activities.

There could be a cost associated with field trips undertaken throughout the year and this will be communicated to you within your induction materials.

11. Admissions Information

<https://www.istitutomarangoni.com/en/fashion-courses/fashion-design/fashion-studies-international-foundation-year>

Students wishing to study the Foundation Course must meet the following minimum requirements on entry:

- 5 I/GCSE level at grade 4/C or equivalent qualification
 - I/GCSE with 3/D in English or equivalent.
- Applicants need to provide a copy of an official English language certificate equivalent to B1 at CEFR level.

Applicants will be a minimum age of 17 at the start of the course.

12. Visas and immigration

Students holding a visa to study in France should familiarise themselves with the conditions and details of their visa.

Students must be aware of the requirements of their visa, including the limitations on your working rights and permitted work. For any further questions, you should contact the admission office directly using an email address included in the Student Handbook.

In addition, after obtaining the first visa, the school librarian is supporting existing students in any further needed information, visa prolongation and renewal and communication with the local visa offices.

13. Assessment and progression regulations

You will be assessed on how well you are achieving the intended learning outcomes at different stages throughout your time of study at Istituto Marangoni Paris.

In order to continue with your studies, there are minimum requirements to meet in order to progress to the next level of your course. The current progression regulations are published within the Academic Regulations on our website at the link below. These are subject to review and amendment each year. We will let you know if there are any major changes to the regulations that may affect you.

regents.ac.uk/about/governance/academic-governance/academic-regulations

Within your project briefs, you will be provided with guidelines on what you need to achieve in each assessment to ensure you receive a good mark. A generic description of each grade is available at:

regents.ac.uk/about/regents-teaching-exchange/learning-teaching/assessment-framework

14. Award criteria

To complete your course, you will need to pass all credits of the programme (120 credits for an International Pathway foundation Course).

You must also meet the requirements of any specific regulations as stated under the Assessment and progression regulations section.

15. Methods for evaluating and improving the quality and standards of teaching and learning

The academic staff is being supported by receiving offers to further develop their skills and acquire academic qualifications as:

- LTA, Learning Teaching Assessment
- PgCert

Istituto Marangoni Paris also financially supports, partly or fully, academics costs to attend conferences and training that can benefit both the staff and the institution.

The Director of Education, with the support of the QA and HR teams, selects on a yearly basis the academic staff to whom professional development will be offered. This selection is being made based on available budget and development needs in order to progress staff and be able to deliver teaching quality.

Staff members are invited to an array of regular training sessions facilitated by DOE, PL and ULs, covering tutor induction at the beginning of the Academic Year and stretching through formal faculty meetings several times during the academic year and specific support on assessment activities.

Continuous monitoring and evaluation of programmes is an essential part of Istituto Marangoni Paris's quality assurance framework enabling discussion and consideration regarding potential enhancement of learning opportunities within specific programmes, resulting in a higher quality student academic experience. The academic team is encouraged to evaluate the programmes and propose content, teaching delivery or assessment related changes for reasons such as quality improvement, in response to feedback from students, academic faculty or subject External Examiners, to ensure currency of programmes, annual monitoring and data outcomes and/or alignment with any regulatory body requirements or changes.

Below are examples of continuous programme management and quality arrangements:

- Course validation or revalidation: the programme approval is based on a process of internal and external peer review and ensures alignment against all relevant UK external reference points as well as internal and external policies and procedures.
- Annual programme / unit modifications: the academic team is encouraged to evaluate the programmes and propose content, teaching delivery or assessment related changes for reasons such as quality improvement in response to feedback from students, tutors or subject External Examiners to ensure currency of programmes, annual monitoring and data outcomes and/or alignment with any regulatory body requirements or changes.
- Programme Continuous Improvement Plans: the process provides an important source of information for programme teams on the operation of the programmes as these documents provide a complete record of enrolment and Assessment Board related information, progress of actions, good practice identified, student and External Examiner feedback, complaints overview etc.
- Unit performance reports: the purpose of those reports is to continue and enhance the quality of units and act upon any concerns in a timely manner.
- Student engagement and feedback: Student participation in quality assurance and enhancement processes helps to improve the educational experience of students, benefiting the wider student body, the Higher Education sector as well as engagement with collaborative partners within industry. Student engagement contributes to quality assurance and enhancement processes by effectively capturing the student voice, acting upon student feedback, student academic engagement as well as their engagement with the School. Students have an opportunity to provide ongoing information and formal feedback as part of their studies. The ways of providing feedback include (but not limited to): student voice and NPS surveys, industry engagement, monthly events, Student Representative meetings and formal Committees and academic related activities.

- External examiner reports

External examiners ensure that Istituto Marangoni Paris's standards and quality processes are appropriate and are of a standard comparable to those of other higher education institutions.
