

Designing the Interior of Tomorrow: A Visionary Scholarship Contest

Master Interior Contract Design • Elie Saab Maison

ABOUT THE COMPANY

Elie Saab is a luxury brand founded in the 1980s, globally recognized for its creations that embody innate elegance and modern femininity. The brand's product strategy primarily focuses on Haute Couture, which constitutes the core of its identity, while also aiming to expand into a comprehensive, 360-degree ultra-luxury lifestyle offering.

The brand has further diversified into luxury furniture through a long-term licensing agreement with Maison, an Italian company specializing in high-end residential and hotel furnishings. Elie Saab's philosophy extends beyond Haute Couture to interior design, residential projects, and future hospitality ventures, all reflecting the brand's distinctive lifestyle.

These projects are exclusively designed by Carlo Colombo - A++ Studio -, along with its specialized real estate division, ensuring each development is tailored to the client's needs. Every project is characterized by innovative design that balances aesthetic appeal and functionality, integrating sustainably into the local context while respecting the current or future character of the area. The aim is to enhance quality of life and reinforce neighborhood identity by creating integrated, sustainable systems that improve both the aesthetic and functional aspects of the spaces.

1. Brief

Participants will have to interpret the DNA and philosophy of the Elie Saab Maison brand by developing a comprehensive concept that captures its essence. This will be articulated through the creation of moodboards and visualizations that define and communicate the aesthetic and emotional language of an Elie Saab interior.

The goal is to craft a design proposal that reflects the brand's core values—elegance, sophistication, and timeless beauty—while translating them into a cohesive and inspiring interior environment.

This approach will serve as a visual and conceptual guide, illustrating how the brand's identity can be embodied within a space, and providing a clear, evocative representation of an Elie Saab-inspired interior.

The objective of the contest is to present a concept through a series of visualizations, including sketches, renderings, or mood boards that showcase innovative design elements or technologies that enhance the functionality, comfort, and overall experience of the living space. Advancements in materials, IoT, AI, or biophilic design can be integrated into the concept.

The project will have to be accompanied by a brief narrative (maximum 500 words) that outlines the rationale behind the design choices.

Submissions must be original and unpublished work created specifically for this contest. All entries must be submitted digitally in a high-resolution format.

2. Criteria of participation

The call is open to graduates holding a University degree or equivalent study in interior design, visual design, graphic design, interaction design, communication design, strategic design, brand design, design for multimedia, visual arts, art direction, marketing or promotion or to professionals with relevant experience in these fields.
