Curriculum:

Connect to the exciting world of fashion online. This course looks at the influence and impact of social media and the phenomenon of fashion blogging within the fashion and luxury industries. Participants discover how fashion companies are integrating bloggers, influencers, and social media experts into their organisations, to promote brand visibility, and use social media's interactive 'user' potential as a powerful means of communication. They will learn about the role of social media marketing, its influence on the relationship between brands and their customers and how communication has changed over time through social networks, online magazines, webinars, weblogs, social blogs, forums and wikis, to name just a few. The course provides an international overview of activity, traits and trends of a successful 'fashion blog'.

Week 1

During the first week participants become familiar with various social media platforms and digital communication strategies of the most significant and influential fashion and luxury brands. They move onto discover trends in the digital marketing field and the methods applied to increase brand awareness, brand image and brand loyalty. National social media channels in countries such as China, Japan and Russia are also covered, key markets for the fashion and luxury.

During the first week participants will also be introduced to the key notions of fashion blogging in order to understand its interaction in fashion communication, and its influence in the fashion business.

Week 2

During the second week the course focuses on the concept of omnimarketing, looking further into the main principles of direct marketing, e-commerce, link building techniques and SEO. The role of Google and other Search Engines is also evaluated, together with web listening techniques and online storytelling. Participants look at how campaigns maximize engagement and increase customer loyalty, and determine the matrix for analysing the efficiency of the social media strategy.

Week 3

The third week will be dedicated to building a professional, up-to-date fashion blogging toolkit including copy techniques and digital visual skills. Participants will receive a formal introduction to content and work actively on case histories and applications with a focus on platforms, devices and techniques used in fashion blogging to craft a positive message. Likewise, copy techniques employed in the fashion blogging process from fashion writing, to hashtags and SEO copy are evaluated. In order to measure progress in fashion blogging participants also take a look at coverage, engagement, KPI and applications, creating a full glossary of fashion blogging today.

Assessment:

Formative Assessments:

This consists in a daily interaction with the tutors that through feedback help the trainees to adopt a critical appraisal of their own learning experience, and helps them assess their own performance in relation to the learning outcomes set for each element of study.

Summative Assessments:

These are formal assessments and are a means of gauging trainee learning, at a particular point in time, relative to established marking criteria (Learning Outcomes). Summative assessments can occur during as well as at the end of each unit on specific evidence of trainee work, examples as follows:

Portfolio Assessment > is used to assess a variety of projects that have been developed throughout the unit and contained within a single folder or portfolio. Portfolio assessment could take a variety of formats depending on the subject and stipulated by the tutor.

Practical and class-based projects > allow students to apply their theoretical understanding of a specific subject area.

Written Reports > are required in some study areas and these will in some cases be a response to industry briefs, allowing students to reflect real industry requirements and to present work to industry standards through report writing.

Presentations > are used in some subjects to allow students to develop their creative, professional communication and presentation skills, formalising their arguments in a critical manner. When giving presentations students are actively encouraged to embrace new technologies and media in an innovative way where appropriate.
