

Stefan Vidler

Stefan Vidler is a Fashion Designer, Researcher, Senior Lecturer and Programme Leader for the BA Fashion Design Programmes at Istituto Marangoni London. Before taking up the post of Programme Leader, Stefan had been working at Istituto Marangoni London for 4 years as a Senior consultant lecturer of Fashion Design on both the BA and MA design programmes. He is currently completing his PhD at London College of Fashion, focusing on the use of computational design within a fashion design process, and drawing on Architecture for theoretical underpinning.

Stefan has held previous roles of Course leader of MA International Fashion Marketing, Course Leader of BA Fashion Design and BA Fashion Design & Marketing, and Course Leader of Foundation Design studies at Regents University London. Prior to his Academic career he was cofounder of luxury fashion label 'Vidler & Nixon' which sold luxury coating and womenswear across the world including 'Harrods'. The brand had an ongoing collaboration with textile supplier 'Holland and Sherry', known as the 'Finest fabrics in the world'. Stefan has always had a strong interest in art, fashion and all aspects of design.